About the BCCM

The BCCM is the representative body for Australian co-ops and mutuals, working with governments, regulators and policy makers to ensure the Australian economic landscape is able to fully benefit from a competitive co-op and mutuals sector. There are approximately than 1,830 co-op and mutual businesses in Australia, with 80% of Australians belonging to one or more. Inclusive of Industry Superannuation Funds, CMEs account for 7 to 8 per cent of Australian GDP, support more than 60,000 business owners and contribute to more than 125,000 jobs.
