

Become a Friend of the Business Council of Co-operatives and Mutuals (BCCM)

The Business Council of Co-operatives and Mutuals (BCCM) is the national voice of co-operatives and mutuals, highlighting the contribution co-operatives and mutuals make to a more inclusive, prosperous and sustainable Australia.

Who do we represent?

Our members are co-operatives and mutuals operating in all sectors including agriculture, financial services, insurance, motoring services, housing, health, education and retail.

What do we do?

Our strategy for seeing our members thrive as part of an expanding co-operative economy in Australia is simple:

- We advocate for improved legislation, regulation and policy for co-operatives and mutuals;
- We provide leadership in co-operative research, education and resources; and
- We foster co-operation among Australia's co-operatives and mutuals.

What is Friends of the BCCM?

Co-operative supporters and enthusiasts are invited to become a Friend of the BCCM, supporting the BCCM's co-operative development and advocacy mission. In return, in true co-operation, the BCCM will assist you in your co-operative endeavours with advice, assistance and co-operative links.

For $250 (excl. GST) per financial year, friends of the BCCM:

- Are acknowledged as a Friend on the BCCM website
- Contribute to the continued development of free co-op resources that benefit everyone like getmutual.coop and the eNews
- Receive advice and invitations to education events to get you started on your co-op journey

"This business model offers a pathway towards economic, social and political justice for all."

Ban Ki-moon,
Secretary-General,
United Nations
