

Foundations of Directorship Course for CMEs

The Business Council of Co-operatives and Mutuals (BCCM) in conjunction with the Australian Institute of Company Directors is offering the first AICD Course designed specifically for co-operative and mutual directors in Australia.

Foundations of Directorship Course for CMEs

Only 25 places available

Course Details:

This course has been designed specifically for co-operatives and mutuals to help contextualise the responsibilities for boards and directors operating within the sector.

Over three days, participants will gain a foundational knowledge of their directorship duties and responsibilities with interactive workshop sessions covering board duties, meeting processes, finance, strategy and risk.

Sessions are facilitated by experienced directors and the program incorporates case studies tailored to the co-operative and mutuals industry to help increase relevance for participants.

Participants will be eligible to receive the Foundations of Directorship Certificate upon successful completion of an assessment.

Suitable for:

- New and aspiring co-op and mutual directors
- CME Directors seeking a refresher course
- Company secretaries, CEOs, CFOs and other executives seeking insights into working with member directors.

Location: Sydney
Date: September 4 - 6, 2019
Price: $3,248 excl GST (represents a 11% saving on standard public non-member rates for BCCM Members).*

For bookings please register online by clicking here

Registration bookings close July 24, 2019

Australian Institute of Company Directors

*Optional AICD membership available at $595 (normally $741) excl. gst
AICD will waive the $200 (excl. gst) AICD membership joining fee for participants who wish to take up AICD membership within one month of completing the course.

BUSINESS COUNCIL
OF CO-OPERATIVES
AND MUTUALS

